School's out for summer!

These students are just a handful of the tens of thousands of kids from junior kindergarten to Grade 8 who won't have to wake up early for class — something Fatimah • Alhadda, a Grade 7 student, is excited about. "I can sleep in a lot." But there's something she will miss: "I'm gonna miss my friends because some of them are going away." Lord Elgin principal Joe Sheik said the last day of school is an emotional day. "You celebrate achievement and success," said Sheik. "But you also say goodbye to your Grade 8s, students that move, and departing and retiring teachers."

Western gets financial boost from province

► Ontario investing $21 million in UWO's new-media and nursing facilities ► Former Ivey School of Business getting remodelled as needed

MIKE ARSENAULT
LONDON@METRONEWS.CA

The University of Western Ontario has received an influx of funding from the provincial government to improve classroom space, clinical-training laboratories and technology.

The funds have been earmarked for the relocation of the School of Nursing and the Faculty of Information and Media Studies to the building formerly occupied by the Ivey School of Business.

The space will be retrofitted to meet the needs of each discipline.

"Our School of Nursing has been in quite small and quite old facilities for a very, very long time," said Jan Polgar, associate

"The support (of the government) is imperative in order for us to do what we do successfully and develop leaders and citizens for the 21st century."

JANICE DEAKIN, WESTERN PROVOST AND VICE-PRESIDENT, ACADEMICS

dean of research for health sciences.

"This is an opportunity for them to get new space, to expand what they're doing.... We can offer our students even more exciting things."

London West MPP Chris Bentley announced the investment by the government and was emphatic about the importance of supporting higher education.

"We want to make sure every student who wants to go on to post-secondary education has that opportunity," Bentley said.

"We want to support a great home (UWO) for more students to be able to achieve the best they can possibly achieve in their studies."

Man busted smuggling crack into courthouse

A London man was arrested for allegedly trying to smuggle a small amount of crack cocaine through a security checkpoint at the Dundas Street courthouse Tuesday.

While being searched at the checkpoint, officers saw an unknown object protruding from the man's clothing. When officers attempted to remove it, he became aggressive. Two officers suffered minor injuries in the altercation.

James Fraser, 49, has been charged with possession of a controlled substance, resisting arrest, and assaulting a police officer. ● METRO

Stay safe while enjoying fireworks

► Who doesn't want to enjoy fireworks on Canada Day?

The fire department is asking Londoners to play it safe with fireworks on Canada Day. For safety reasons, the fire department prefers public firework displays, which are strictly regulated and conducted by experts.

But if you plan on displaying consumer fireworks, the fire department is asking you to be wary of the following:

- Always follow the label directions.
- Buy your fireworks from a reliable source.
- An adult should always be present to supervise
- Always have water near-by (garden hose and bucket).

- The fireworks shooter should always wear eye protection.

- Ignite the fireworks from a bucket of sand, outdoors, away from vehicles and buildings — one at a time.
- Never re-ignite a dud!
- Never make your own fireworks
- Don't give fireworks to small children
- Dispose of fireworks by soaking them in water and putting them in a trash can.

Don't forget — firecrackers are illegal. And, be careful when using sparklers. They can cause severe burns. ● MARINA BRKLJACA

LONDON CELEBRATES CANADA WITH THE SEA AND CITY

MARINA BRKLJACA

When Shane O'Halloran steps up in front of thousands at Harris Park, he is going to be living every performer's dream.

"It's awesome. I don't know if I'm ever going to get an opportunity like this," said O'Halloran, 16. "It's going to be amazing. They are estimating 10,000 people. Hopefully, they like what they hear."

"All month we've been ecstatic.... The opportunity to be able to play in front of so many people has been an overwhelming sensation."

PATRICK MCKENNA, 18,
THE SEA AND CITY

O'Halloran, a Saint Thomas Aquinas student, plays melodica, piano, guitar and sings backup vocals for The Sea and City. After winning the Young Professionals Group's Battle of the Bands this past May, The Sea and City were invited to play at London Celebrates Canada for Canada's 144th birthday.

Rossana Wyatt, media relations for London Celebrates Canada, said playing at Harris Park on Canada Day is just the exposure the guys need.

"I think it will be great for them. It will be great for Londoners to see the talent we have," Wyatt.

Wyatt said there will be something for everyone at Harris Park.

"We can come together and have a good time and celebrate," said Wyatt.

And that's just what The Sea and City is hoping for.

"It's going to be fun," said O'Halloran.

"We've got a lot of energy and we're hoping the audience feeds off the excitement.... We're hoping

Fire stirs fears of nuclear crisis in New Mexico

- Small city of Los Alamos, N.M., evacuated
- U.S. sends high-tech plane to check on radiation

The U.S. government sent a plane equipped with radiation monitors over the Los Alamos nuclear laboratory Wednesday as a 285-square-kilometre wildfire burned at its doorstep, putting thousands of scientific experiments on hold.

The plane, which can take digital photographs and video as well as thermal and night images, was sent to New York City to take air samples after the Sept. 11 terror attacks.

It has flown over wildfires and areas damaged by hurricane Katrina. It monitored the 2002 Winter Olympics in Salt Lake City.

It also helped locate debris from the disintegrated space shuttle Columbia. Lab officials expressed confidence the Los Alamos blaze would not scatter radioactive material, as some residents feared.

"Our facilities, our nuclear materials are all safe," said lab director Charles McMillan.

Los Alamos, a city of 11,000 in New Mexico, sits empty after its residents were moved to safety.

The streets of Los Alamos were deserted, with the exception of emergency vehicles and National Guard Humvees.

Homeowners who had left were prepared: Cars were left in the middle of parking lots, away from anything flammable.

The lab, which employs about 15,000 people, covers more than 93 square kilometres and includes about 2,000 buildings at nearly four dozen sites. They include research facilities, as well as waste-disposal sites.

Residents downwind have expressed concern about the potential of a radioactive smoke plume if the flames reach thousands of barrels of waste stored in above-ground tents at the lab.

"I know people are concerned about what's in the smoke," said Sen. Tom Udall of New Mexico.

The wildfire is stirring memories of a May 2000 blaze that destroyed hundreds of homes and buildings. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

► A crew member aboard the International Space Station took this photo of the Los Alamos fire from an altitude of about 378 kilometres.

Area G is key

- Lab director Charles McMillan said the barrels contain low-grade waste (gloves, toolboxes, tools) and other items that may have been contaminated.
- An anti-nuclear group had estimated there could be up to 30,000 55-gallon drums stored at a site known as Area G, but lab spokesperson Heather Clark said Wednesday there are 10,000 drums stored there under fire-retardant tents.

- Los Alamos County Fire Chief Doug Tucker, whose department is responsible for protecting the lab, said the barrels are stacked about three high inside the tents.
- Area G holds drums of cleanup from Cold War-era waste that the lab sends away for storage in weekly shipments, according to lab officials.
- The Los Alamos lab is famous for being the location where scientists developed the first atomic bomb during the Second World War.

NO TOXINS RELEASED YET, LAB STAFF SAY

Top lab officials and fire managers say there have been no releases of toxins.

They say they're confident the flames won't reach key buildings or areas where radioactive waste is stored.

As a last resort, they say, foam could be sprayed on barrels containing items that might have been contaminated through contact with radioactive materials.

The site's manager for the National Nuclear Security Administration said he evaluated the precautions and felt comfortable.

"I have 170 people who validate their measures," Kevin Smith said. "They're in steel drums, on a concrete floor."

The fire has already sparked a spot fire at the lab. The fire was quickly contained, and no contamination was released.

Canadian flees Kabul firefight

► Businessman 'safe and unharmed' after suicide attackers storm hotel ► U.S. helicopters fire missiles

A Canadian businessman was safe Wednesday after being caught up in a deadly attack on a Kabul hotel.

A spokesperson from the Canadian Embassy in Afghanistan said the man was a guest at the Intercontinental when it was attacked by eight Taliban fighters.

Emma Welford would not reveal how the man got out of the besieged hotel, but said he has been taken to an undisclosed location.

"He's safe and unharmed," she said.

The man's identity was not released, but Welford said he was not part of the Canadian military or diplomatic mission and has no ties to the development and aid community.

The attack late Tuesday was one of the most complex launched by insurgents to date and lasted five hours and ended with 19 people dead, including the attackers.

Afghan security forces cleared the hotel, but the running battle ended when U.S. attack helicopters fired missiles at the five-storey building.

Security official Latifullah Mashal said eight suicide attackers were involved.

All had either blown themselves up or been killed.

The 11 civilians killed included a judge, five hotel workers and three Afghan policemen, Mashal said.

Mom who lost son sees 157th body return

The mother of a soldier killed two years ago quietly pressed her face to the fence of an airbase Wednesday as the remains of the latest casualty of the Afghan mission arrived back on Canadian soil.

Clutching a "support-the-troops" poster, Kathy Bulger was among hundreds of people who gathered at CFB Trenton to pay their respects to Master Cpl. Francis Roy, the 157th Canadian to die on Canada's combat mission.

"There are no words to describe today — what it's like to be here," said Bulger, whose last visit to CFB Trenton was to stand on the tarmac and receive the remains of her son, Cpl. Nick Bulger.

"People don't understand how good the Canadian military is."

Fellow soldiers found Roy, 32, mortally wounded early Saturday at a forward operating base in Kandahar city.

Investigators, who ruled out enemy action, were treating Roy's death as a suicide. An autopsy has yet to be performed.

Gay marriage demanded in Jersey

MI SCHEAR/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

► Activists say existing civil union law inhibits their rights, lawsuit is the only way to solve inequities

Seven gay couples and many of their children filed a lawsuit Wednesday to demand New Jersey recognize gay marriage, saying it's the only way to solve inequities created by the state's four-year-old civil union law.

It comes days after neighbouring state New York became the sixth U.S. state to legalize same-sex marriage.

New Jersey lawmakers created that law to try to fulfil a 2006 state Supreme Court order that committed gay couples be given the same legal protections and benefits as married couples. The couples say that in places like insurance offices and hospital emergency rooms, where marriage rights come into play, the civil union doesn't cut it.

One plaintiff is John Grant, who was struck by a car in New York City. The Asbury Park man's civil union partner, Danny Weiss, says he was told he wasn't entitled to make urgent medical decisions for Federal nuclear firm goes private

► Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. sold for $15 million
 ► Ottawa keeping intellectual-property rights

The federal government has sold nuclear company Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. to Montreal-based engineering giant SNC-Lavalin Group.

Natural Resources Minister Joe Oliver announced the sale late yesterday. The sale ended at least two years of attempts by Ottawa to privatize AECL.

The sale price was $15 million.

Meanwhile, SNC-Lavalin is creating a new division called CANDU Energy that will house AECL's three former business lines.

SNC-Lavalin was the sole bidder to meet Ottawa's conditions for buying the financially troubled Crown corporation.

AECL has long been a headache for successive federal governments and has cost Canadian taxpayers billions of dollars in subsidies, including about $1 billion in the last two years alone.

The company has also faced major cost overruns at key projects in recent years while struggling to find a buyer.

In May 2009, the Conservatives announced plans to spin off AECL's commercial reactor business from its research division.

The announcement coincided with what turned into a lengthy shutdown of the company's research reactor at Chalk River, Ont., which caused a worldwide shortage of the medical isotopes used to detect cancer and heart ailments.

An earlier shutdown in late 2007 also strained the global isotope supply and ended only after Parliament voted to bypass the nuclear safety regulator's closure order.

► The AECL sale could have effects on two Canadian provinces, which face questions about how the sale will affect their own nuclear power industries.

► The company has bid for the two new reactors Ontario wants to build, but the province won't make a decision until AECL's future is certain.

► Ontario Finance Minister Dwight Duncan told reporters Tuesday that he doesn't expect to sign any deals before the Oct. 6 provincial election.

► The provincial Tory government has been looking to Ottawa to cover roughly $1 billion in additional costs during the Lepreau refurbishment, which is being overseen by AECL.

Canadian wheat monopoly must go: Ritz

Canada's agriculture minister says the Canadian Wheat Board's monopoly on wheat and barley sales has got to go if the grain industry is to grow stronger.

"The monopoly of the wheat board is standing in the way," Gerry Ritz told a meeting of the Grain Growers of Canada on Wednesday.

"What was once Canada's signature crop has fallen behind."

He said the country's share of the world wheat market has been cut in half and barley has also suffered as farmers switched to other crops. That falling market share means the board has seen its influence on prices decline.

Ritz and the federal Conservative government have said they will eliminate the board's control and they will do it without holding a vote among farmers as is currently required by the Wheat

It's a move that is already being challenged in the courts.

Toyota to recall SUV hybrids

Toyota Motor Corp. said Wednesday it will recall about 82,200 hybrid SUVs in the U.S. due to computer boards with possible faulty wiring.

The car giant said the recall will involve Highlander- and Lexus-brand hybrid SUVs from its 2006 and 2007 lines. The action covers just the vehicles sold in the U.S., with no other models affected. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A CHOICE OF SINK, SWIM OR FLUTTER

HE SAYS ...

JOHN MAZEROLLE
METRO

As I think about my swimming technique this summer, one skill keeps coming to mind: I should really learn to float.

I have mastered the fundamentals known as the three S's: Standing, squatting and swearing about the water's temperature. And, sometimes, emboldened by back-to-back episodes of Jackass, I let the water come up to my neck.

But despite my derring-do, the fact remains that I'm about as buoyant as a cockpit voice recorder. To me, the butterfly is an animal, the freestyle is rap music and the breaststroke is something you do if you really love your KFC.

The only pool that I have been in recently involved guessing when Will and Kate will get divorced.

My inability to swim is especially embarrassing because I grew up in New Brunswick. "Weren't you born on the water?" people say, frowning at me as if I were a Newfoundlander who just said he doesn't care for whisky.

These people assume I can't swim because I'm scared, but that's not true.

I'm tentative near open waters, but that's because the Atlantic hovers around three degrees Kelvin. It does to your body what your Grade 7 teacher used to do to hotdogs when he took out liquid nitrogen to illustrate the scientific principle of "Breaking stuff into little pieces is cool."

And the water inside was no better: All I learned on school swimming trips was that chlorine is Mother Nature's way of stabbing you in the eyes. (If the Taliban ever harnesses the power of chlorine, every North American will be wandering around with their face squeezed tight and their arms outstretched asking for a towel.)

We did take swimming lessons on school trips, but they generally involved clinging to a flutter board as though we had just departed the Titanic. When the chlorine dissolved the board, the lesson was over.

I could get sulky about this and blame my childhood, but instead I have decided to embrace it: I want to return to my roots and get a flutter board because that's the closest I have been to swimming.

It might seem childish but, heck, they give out beer in sippy cups at hockey games, and those motorcycles with extra wheels seem popular now. Give my board an iPhone colour scheme and an impressive name and I will be fine with it. My Jet-Black Thoroughbred Freedom Board will be the talk of the pool.

And if anyone mocks me, I'm blaming the tears on chlorine.

Worth mentioning

LOS ANGELES. A team of European astronomers, glimpsing back in time to when the universe was just a youngster, says it has detected the most distant and earliest quasar yet.

Light from this brilliant, starlike object took nearly 13 billion years to reach Earth, meaning the quasar existed when the universe was only 770 million years old — a child by cosmic standards. The discovery ranks as the brightest object ever found.

To scientists' surprise, the black hole powering this quasar was two billion times more massive than the sun. How it grew so bulky so early in the universe's history is a mystery. Black holes are known to feed on stars, gas and other matter, but their growth was always thought to be slow.

The discovery was reported in Thursday's issue of the journal Nature. Since quasars are so luminous, they guide astronomers studying the conditions of the cosmos following the Big Bang, the explosion believed to have created the universe 13.7 billion years ago.

Debuting next season — CSI: Dog poop

A Florida condominium association hopes dog DNA samples will help it determine which pet owners aren't picking up after their pooches.

The Village of Abacoa Condominium Association says cleaning up after dog owners who don't clean up after their dogs costs $10,000 to $12,000 US per year.

Starting Aug. 1, residents in the Jupiter, Fla., community must each pay a $200 fee to keep the dogs' genetic information on file at the DNA Pet World Registry. Dog droppings found in common areas will be collected and mailed to the Tennessee-based company for comparison.

The association's property manager says any owner whose dog matches the poop sample will be fined up to $1,000, or a lien could be placed on their homes. A dog that is a persistent problem could be confiscated.

Plot synopsis

Larry Crowne (Tom Hanks, who also directs), the man not the movie, is the kind of guy proud to wear his My Name Is tag. That is, until the day U Mart downsizes him. Divorced and stuck with a house that isn't worth what he owes on it, he turns his life around by going back to school and getting an education in life and love from teacher Mercedes Tainot (Julia Roberts).

Reel Guys

RICHARD
CROUSE &
MARK

SCENE@METRONWS.CA

Movie writer Phil Brown is sitting in for Mark Breslin this week.

Richard Crouse: Phil, Larry Crowne has an old-fashioned feel to it, like a '90s sitcom updated with references from the 2000s. There's something reassuring about seeing old pros Hanks and Roberts effortlessly glide through this like hot knives through butter, but occasionally the material feels a bit out of date.

Phil Brown: The movie seemed too old-fashioned to me and just felt bland. Star power has appeal, but I just can't buy two of the most recognizable movie stars as down-on-their-luck nobodies. Tom Hanks may have an everyman quality, but he looks as out of place working in a department store as Larry the Cable Guy at Harvard.

RC: Maybe so, but Hanks has been playing the Da Vinci Code's oh-so-serious iconology professor Robert Langdon for so long now it's easy to forget that he was once known as an accomplished comedic actor. Here he turns the dial back to movies like Joe and the Volcano, playing a likeable character you want to root for. I enjoyed that, I just found the obvious boomer baiting a bit obvious.

PB: Yeah, it was nice to see him try to be funny again and hopefully it's not the last time. Few do gentle character comedy better. The boomer baiting was frustrating as was the attempt to make overcoming economic crisis seem so easy. If only I'd known before now that the answer to any financial problems I have could be solved by taking a community college level intro to economics course with George Takei.

RC: I actually really liked the movie's offbeat casting. Sure Hanks and Roberts are the above-the-title stars, but they'll only appeal to people who remember when gas cost 54 cents a litre. The rest of the cast is bizarre. Pam Grier? Awesome. Wilmer Valderrama? Well, maybe not awesome, but at least left-of-centre enough to be fun. For all the familiar names in the cast, it was an unfamiliar one that grabbed my attention: Gugu Mbatha-Raw. I think a new star might have been born there.

PB: She has a star quality and I did enjoy seeing Tekei even if his subplot was ridiculous. This is a comfort food movie. For the price of admission you get pretty actors, a comfy moral and a happy ending. There's nothing wrong with cinematic empty calories, I just could have used some realism, edge and creativity.

Appealing to the masses

► Horrible Bosses is a buddy comedy that never gets too dark ► Sudeikis talks to Metro about his new flick

RICHARD

SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

Although Jason Sudeikis stars in the new comedy Horrible Bosses, he says in real life he's never worked for a horrible boss.

A short retail career — “It was not my forte,” he says — saw a manager harp on him about “hanger integrity,” which he explains is “the act of making sure all your hangers in a closet or on a clothing rack face the exact same way.” But he doesn't remember her as horrible. “Passive aggressive, yes, and very detail oriented, but horrible, no.”

His current boss, Saturday Night Live head honcho Lorne Michaels, gets more effusive praise. “I picture him laughing a lot,” he says. “I think that is what keeps him so spry.”

In Horrible Bosses, the handsome actor — he's good-looking enough to have dated January Jones! — plays Kurt, who, along with Jason Bateman and Charlie Day, plot to kill their evil employers.

“I just think Jason and Charlie are so great,” he says. “I watched and thought, ‘Golly, they're so frickin' funny. I hope people are all right with me.’”

The plot sounds sinister, but the movie isn't serious in any way.

“I don't know if any of our characters go through an emotional arc,” he laughs. “It never gets too dark. There's not going to be any copycat situations. It's not going to start things up around the country, or the world for that matter.”

It's a buddy comedy expanded to three, just like another big hit this summer, The Hangover Part 2. “People, if they want to be crappy about it will say, ‘Oh, they want to be The Hangover,’ but it is totally different.”

I mention a tweet someone sent after seeing Horrible Bosses. “Three is the new two,” it read.

► Jason Sudeikis stars in Horrible Bosses.

“I've been working on my own theory that four is the new rule of comedy in this new generation,” he says. “One establishes the premise, two hits it, third is the punch line, then the fourth one is a comment on what the first three were.”

Horrible Bosses is being released amidst the crash, boom, bang of the summer blockbusters. I ask him if he's concerned about competing with the likes of Transformers.

“Out of the movies that are being released around it, it's the one I would go see,” he says. “I just happen to be in it, which is nice.”

► Kevin James

Welcome to the animal house

PATALANO

SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

Does the idea of Kevin James starring in a comedy alongside a bunch of talking zoo animals sound ridiculous? Maybe a little corny? Kevin James himself would agree with that.

“I was immediately not into doing an animal movie,” he confesses. “It just felt so kinda goofy to me to do it, and then as I started thinking about it more — if we could make it a great story where you didn't need animals, they're just kind of like buddies that could add to the film, I started getting more and more interested in it.”

That's how the King of Queens star made his peace with starring in Zookeeper, in which he plays a zoo employee and animal lover who feels he must ditch the job he loves in order to impress an ex who is reconsidering him. Once the animals reveal they can talk, they coach James' character on how to win his lady back.

The animals are voiced by some Hollywood juggernauts — Adam Sandler, Cher, Nick Nolte, Sylvester Stallone, Judd Apatow and Jon Favreau — all of whom, James says, were excited about the strength of the film's script.

One thing the star is also adamant about was his desire to make a family film. “I've gone to movies with my kids and I'm bored out of my skull. There's just no comedy for adults so I wanted something where it's comedy for everybody.”

Pooh puts down his honey jar for Canada

Plan to show off your patriotic love of everything Canuck this Canada Day? You aren't the only one. Even Winnie the Pooh — named after Winnipeg, you know — is putting down his beloved honey jar and picking up the red and white this weekend. Disney's Winnie the Pooh, starring the voices of Craig Ferguson and John Cleese, is in theatres on July 15.

A Canadian music affair

► Canada Day concert set to showcase London's strong music scene

"I can't even remember what I did last Canada Day," laughs Sophie Quick, part of the creative duo responsible for such inspired concert events as Rock Lottery and The Love Show.

"I know where I was," says Bonnie Goodden, Quick's other half. "In Harris Park waiting forever in line to use a port-a-potty."

This year the pair will have lots to remember as they prepare to host a Canada Day bash for the books at the APK Live.

Canada Day Concert with Portage, the event will feature London talent singing its favourites by Canadian music legends.

"It's going to be incredibly varied," says Goodden.

"We'll have everything from The Tragically Hip to k.d. lang to Anne Murray." Performances will range from solo sets by Henry Svec, Ian Doig-Phaneuf and Dave Knill to ensemble numbers by Space Slave (who are going by the name Canadarm Slave for the event) and The Band Band, a tribute group for The Band.

But perhaps the most unique part of the evening will be the truly Canadian portage every performer is expected to make.

"I am constructing a canoe that each band and musician will have to portage to stage just to add an element of fun," Goodden says.

"It's 10 feet long."

These kinds of antics won't be new to patrons of Goodden and Quick's events.

In February they hosted a Love Show at the APK Live that featured performances in a kissing booth, and the Rock Lottery they hosted last year, which drew musicians' names out of a hat to create new bands for a day, is still recalled as one of the most memorable events in London.

"We just like to have fun," says Quick. "And make something out of a kind."

Goodden agrees.

"Within London there is a strong music scene and you want to be able to change it up."

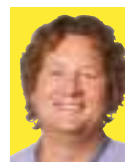

"And, to be very Canadian it's only two dollars — toonie entry," Quick says.

"Yes, a homage to our hilarious currency," Goodden adds.

@METRONWS.CA

If you're reading this, chances are you still care about buying albums and CDs. And as we pass into the second half of 2011, here are my picks for the best albums of the year (so far) in alphabetical order to boot.

Adele/21: Unstoppable. People are discovering that Adele is the Real Deal. There's little hype promoting this record. It's selling exclusively on the strength of the songs.

Beastie Boys/Hot Sauce Committee Part Two: MCA, dude, that cancer thing really scared us. How did you guys crank out such a solid record while all that Big C stuff was going down?

Bon Iver/Bon Iver: More divine melancholy music from the saddest man in Eau Claire, Wisconsin.

The Dears/Degeneration Street: In the business, they call this kind of CD "a career-defining release." It's made the Long List for the Polaris Music Prize.

EMA/Past Life of Martyred Saints: South Dakotan Erika M. Anderson turns her noise-folk into something that PJ Harvey probably has in her iPod.

F—ed Up/David Comes to Life: No one in this Toronto hardcore band can explain the libretto of this rock opera. No matter. The ride is satisfying enough.

Foo Fighters/Wasting Light: This record is more proof that the Foes are as close to a perfectly constructed modern rock band as we're ever going to see.

PJ Harvey/Let England Shake: Harvey is a shape-and-genre shifter, with each album sounding completely different. Moving from woozy to fierce and back again, I hear something new each time I put on this CD.

▶ Britney Spears, Lady Gaga, Nicki Minaj: who will you have stuck in your head all season? Start here to find out.

PAT HEALY
SCENE@METRONews.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN BOSTON

There are no awards for the song of summer, just the honour of worming your tune into the collective consciousness during the most nostalgic season of the year.

And yet, to achieve song of the summer status requires more than just the hallmarks of a hit song.

It helps to have at least two of the following: laid-back vibe, a seize-the-night message, whistling, a few woah ohs or la las, funny lyrics, a booze and/or pop culture reference.

And perhaps most importantly, they all need to have that one part that will function as an in-joke between you and your friends regarding whatever summer situation you find yourself in.

The Edge of Glory by Lady Gaga

Like a great summer night, this song is all about living in the moment. It is also the type of tune that you hear once and you already know it, with its huge buildup to the anthemic chorus, which takes place about 10 times in the song. This makes for convenient group singalongs on the way to the beach.

Give Me Everything by Pitbull (featuring Ne-Yo, Afrojack and Nayer)

Employing the same seize-the-night ethos that make the Gaga and Britney songs work, Pitbull raps a "got it locked up like Lindsay Lohan" line as well as an "I might drink a little more than I should" line as Ne-Yo delivers the catchy chorus. You'll be playing this as you get ready to go out because you know you'll be hearing it when you hit the clubs.

I Wanna Go by Britney Spears

Britney has always been great at looking at what other people are doing, and saying, "Hey, that looks cool. Let me try!" and totally kicking ass at it. Here she runs away with the catchy whistling and the "I wanna go all the way ay/Takin' out my freak tonight" party message.

The sounds of summer

Super Bass by Nicki Minaj/ Where Them Girls At by David Guetta Featuring Flo Rida and Nicki Minaj

This summer belongs to Nicki.

If only we could be certain that a third song she appeared on would be huge, we could call it a Minaj-a-trois. But we're certain that these two bangers are contenders for the song of summer.

There's something so likable about her voice, whether she's singing or rapping. She's funny, dirty and within these two jams, she effortlessly references Slick Rick, Led Zeppelin and soul singer Peabo Bryson.

The line you'll be singing: "Somebody tell him who the eff I is."

● PAT HEALY

The Lazy Song by Bruno Mars

The formula here is Jason Mraz + Sublime, but it's hard to dock Bruno Mars points for borrowing since this song is all about being lazy. The beat is just begging for a traffic jam, where you will roll down the window and thump your hand on the outside of the car door. Anyone within earshot will be whistling along. The pop culture reference tonight/There's a party on the rooftop top of the world."

Pricetag by Jessie J (featuring B.o.B.)

"We just wanna make the world dance," sings Jessie J in a sexy Brit plea against a chill "Ooh Child" groove. But Jessie is actually calling for a return to a pre-MTV worldview. "We need to take it back in time/When music made us all unite/And it wasn't low blows and video hos."

Last Friday Night (T.G.I.F) by Katy Perry

"Pictures of last night ended up online, I'm screwed/oh well, it's a blacked out blur, but I'm pretty sure it ruled." There really isn't much more that needs to be said about Perry's hilarious hangover ditty. If you go the whole summer without busting out in the T.G.I.F. chant in this song, then you might not be able to call yourself a member of modern society.

Pumped Up Kicks by Foster the People

This third whistler on the list is actually a dark song about taking revenge on bullies. But when singer Mark Foster, who sounds like he's talking from an interrogation room during the verse, bursts into the celebratory chorus, it's easy to sing along, even if you don't realize you're saying, "you'd better run faster than my bullet."

Wetsuit by the Vaccines

The Vaccines sound like a cooler Coldplay here. With its repeated incantation of "we all got old at break-neck speed," this song was tailor made for a yearbook quote.

Every Teardrop is a Waterfall by Coldplay

Speaking of Coldplay, we should probably put them on here. Though we like the Vaccines song better, this one is definitely one of the tunes you will be hearing a lot of in these next few months, especially as the release date of their next album creeps closer in early fall.

Ice Cream by Battles

This manically sexy song has a manically sexy video, too.

ences abound ("Teach Me How to Dougie") and the vapid girl who says "ohmigod, this is great" about doing the deed with him is really funny.

Tonight Tonight by Hot Chelle Rae

This one has pretty much everything a song of summer should: A huge woah oh oh chorus, an easy beat, pop culture references galore ("I woke up with a strange tattoo, not sure how I got it, not a dollar in my pocket/And it kinda looks just like you, mixed with Zach Galifianakis"), funny lyrics and that carpe nocte chorus of "We're going at it tonight,

Halle Berry's custody battle getting nasty

► Actress files paperwork accusing her ex-husband of neglectful behaviour

ALL PHOTOS GETTY IMAGES

Halle Berry's custody battle with ex Gabriel Aubry over their daughter, Nahla, isn't getting any friendlier, according to Us Weekly.

The Oscar-winning actress appeared in family court in L.A. this week, submitting paperwork that accused Aubry of being neglectful and of violating an earlier custody agreement.

Aubry was not present for the court appearance.

"Halle has serious concerns for her daughter's well-being while in the care of her father for any extended period of time and is prepared to take all necessary steps to protect her," Berry's rep said when the custody battle began in January.

Despite the collapse of her previous plans to build a school in Malawi, Madonna hasn't given up on helping the impoverished African nation.

The singer is now working on plans to build an orphanage there, according to E! Online.

"My short-term goals are to build an orphan care center that will service and reach at least 1,000 children, and I'm also actively involved in funding several orphanages that already exist," she says.

Madonna has previously tried a number of times to adopt impoverished kids.

Fantastic Man

► The story of how David Gandy and Dolce & Gabbana brought sexy back

RICHARD
METRO WORLD NEWS

"I'm a big believer in, 'don't believe in your own hype,'" says David Gandy. As muse to Dolce & Gabbana, he's arguably the world's most famous male model of today. But as he says, "I wouldn't have the audacity to call myself a supermodel."

This is a man who walks down runways dressed in nothing but tightie whities for a living, so you might assume he's being facetious. You'd be wrong.

We met at his model agency in London following the especially lavish, movie-star style launch in Milan of his eponymous book by Dolce & Gabbana. "It's been a surreal weekend, going from driving a classic Triumph around with a police escort and everyone screaming one day to going back to Sainsbury's supermarket the next," the 30-year-old says.

► It was Gandy's hot-blooded, Adonis-like masculinity in the Dolce & Gabbana Light Blue fragrance campaign (above) that got him noticed for all the right reasons by housewives and jealous husbands around the world.

Yes, David Gandy goes to the supermarket. He may be shaped like an inverted triangle with abs of steel but he is, in layman's terms, a regular, "nice guy" working in a notoriously bitchy field. How has an unassuming man made it to the top of one of the most notoriously back-stabby industries? "I have more determination than a lot of people and I'm absolutely stubborn," he says.

He's so headstrong, in fact, that he once stormed out of an important casting when asked to shave his trademark mane.

"They said, 'That's our look and that's what we have to do but it's your choice if you want to leave,'" he explains. "So I packed my bags and left."

It's a willfulness that Gandy assures me he asserted when making the book, which includes more than a few butt shots and photos of him playfully holding phallic-shaped objects near his mouth. He explains: "For a lot of the photos, [Domenico and Stefano] probably wanted to go further than me, but we reigned it in a bit," he says.

GANDY ON HIS SUCCESS

In fashion terms, the union of man and brand was a game changer. "People said I changed the industry but it wasn't me, it was Dolce & Gabbana and Mario Testino. We did the white pants in Light Blue and then [Emporio] Armani followed with David Beckham," he says. Gandy represented a breakaway from the effete-looking, super skinny Dior guy that had become so popular.

A waif, Gandy is not. And he'll be promoting his muscle man ethos with his very own fitness and nutrition iPhone app later this year.

"After 10 years in the industry, I can actually say what, fitness-wise, absolutely works. There'll be new techniques from the U.S. and I'll be simplifying complex terms," he says. Sounds like supermodel material to us.

Open the door to curb appeal

► They say not to judge a book by its cover — but buyers often judge a home by its door ► Give your house a facelift by making the entranceway inviting

DIY IDEAS

Painting your front door will give your home years worth of curb appeal, and will add personality with your colour choice.

These tips for painting your front door come from licensed contractor Jason Cameron, host of Desperate Landscapes on DIY Network Canada.

Cameron's show transforms neglected backyards into landscape showpieces — all in just one day.

Prep the door

With help, remove the door and place it on sawhorses for cleaning and painting. Remove all of the hardware, including doorknob, peephole and knocker.

Wash the door and allow it to dry. If there are any cracks in the door, patch them with quick-drying wood filler.

Once dry, sand down the filler so that the patch is smooth with the door.

Prime the door

There's no need to prime if the paint is already in good condition, but if you are using a dark colour it's advisable to use primer.

Prime all six sides of the door — front, back, top, bottom, and sides, and let dry completely.

Any part not primed will absorb moisture.

If there are still cracks after priming, fill them with caulk and prime overtop once again.

Once dry, use sandpaper to get rid of any paint drips or unevenness in the panels, then use an old paintbrush to clean off the dust from sanding.

Paint the door

Use an angled sash brush and begin by painting the corners of the panels, working from top to bottom.

Do not use too much paint, and ensure that it does not puddle.

Use a roller to paint the rest of the door, following the grain of the wood.

Begin with the raised panels, then the top and bottom, sides, and finally the outside edges.

Continue with as many coats as necessary to achieve your desired colour, each time starting with the sash brush and following with the roller in the order described.

Once completely dry, reattach the door and enjoy a beautiful facelift for your home!

And every other Thursday, I'm offering my best advice on managing your home.

So, please send your questions to askcharles-thebutler@metronews.ca and remember to look for this column every other Thursday.

Let's start with our first question!

► It's all about the little things: A correctly placed toilet paper roll is a nice touch in any bathroom.

Question: Is there a correct way to place toilet paper on the toilet paper holder?!

Answer: As a matter of fact, there is!

The toilet paper roll is meant to go over not under, that is UNLESS you have a cat.

If you are a cat owner, you will want the toilet paper to go under to save yourself lots of grief.

Having the toilet roll go over provides nothing but encouragement to a playful cat to make a mess and unroll the toilet roll so that you have a mess when you wake up in the morning!

► The addition of jerk seasoning gives this burger a kick.

What better way to celebrate Canada Day than in the backyard with family and friends?

This year, while you're toasting the nation's 144th birthday, incorporate unique food items that reflect the multiculturalism of our country with these Grilled Honey & Lime Prawns and Jamaican Jerk Burgers.

Jerk seasoning, a Jamaican marinade that is normally used with chicken, gives the burger a new twist.

Meanwhile, the combination of honey and lime in the prawns perfectly balances sweet and sour.

From the editors of Creative Homeowner, Canada Grills! not only features recipes but also an introduction to grilling, barbecue and smoking terms, temperatures, tips by Barry "CB" Martin, and more than 50 of CB's EZ recipes.

Jamaican Jerk Burgers

Preparation:

1 To make the burgers, whisk together lime juice, soy sauce, ground ginger, and Jamaican jerk seasoning. Then mix in the beef, pork or turkey (whichever you are using) until everything is combined, taking care not to over-mix. Form the mixture into patties; grill.

2 For the Chipotle-Lime Mayonnaise, bring the egg yolks to room temperature. In a food processor, purée the yolks, lime juice, chipotle purée, cilantro, salt and white pepper. Once everything is fully incorporated, slowly drizzle in olive oil while the food processor is still running.

Note: To avoid consuming raw eggs for health reasons, use pasteurized eggs, or substitute about 1½ cups store-bought mayonnaise for eggs and oil.

- 2 tablespoons lime juice
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- 2 teaspoons ground ginger
- 4 tablespoons Jamaican jerk seasoning

Chipotle-Lime Mayonnaise

- 2 egg yolks
- 3 teaspoons lime juice
- 1 teaspoon chipotle purée
- 3 tablespoons cilantro, finely chopped
- Salt and white pepper to taste
- 1 cup olive oil

CB's Grilled Honey & Lime Prawns

3-4 servings
Prep time:
1 hr.
Cooking:
7 - 10 mins

Ingredients:

- 1 pound jumbo prawns (about 21 per pound) cleaned, tails on

Marinade

- 2 tablespoons Italian salad dressing
- 2 tablespoons dry white vermouth
- 1/3 cup Worcestershire sauce
- 1 garlic clove, finely minced
- 2 tablespoons cilantro, finely chopped
- 1 teaspoon ground ginger

Basting sauce

- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 1/4 cup honey

Preparation:

1 Combine marinade ingredients in sealable plastic bag, and add prawns. Refrigerate for up to 1 hour. Combine basting-sauce ingredients in a nonreactive bowl, and set aside.

2 Preheat grill to medium high. Place marinated prawns on hot grates. Use tongs to turn, and sear all sides. When seared, remove the prawns to a holding pan away from direct heat.

3 Brush with basting sauce, and allow to finish cooking, about 3 to 5 minutes. Squirt with lime. CANADA GRILLS! (PUBLISHED BY CREATIVE HOMEOWNER, 2011, SADDLE RIVER, N.J.)

► Eskimos' Reed, Riders' Marshall to make CFL head-coaching debuts together

They're both former CFL players who also spent many years patrolling the sidelines as assistant coaches.

And on Sunday, Kavis Reed and Greg Marshall will achieve career milestones together.

The two will make their CFL head-coaching debuts when Reed leads his Edmonton Eskimos into Mosaic Field to take on Marshall's Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Reed and Marshall are friends, having spent time together over the years exchanging coaching ideas and sharing defensive philosophies. They were both defensive players in the CFL and each spent 10 or more years as an assistant coach before being promoted this off-season.

But Reed downplayed the significance of the two making their head-coaching debuts against one another.

"It's the way the schedule shakes down, to be honest," Reed said. "We would've met sooner or later but as it's the debut, it probably adds a little more spice to it."

"We have the utmost respect for one another and I know this, I expect him to do very well in his coaching career. But when the ball is kicked, Greg and I will be on the sidelines ... and the 12 Roughriders and 12 Eskimos on the field will be our biggest concerns."

The 2011 season kicks off Thursday with the Montreal Alouettes beginning their quest for a third straight Grey Cup at home against the B.C. Lions.

The league celebrates Canada Day with two games. The Winnipeg Blue Bombers visit the Hamilton Tiger-Cats before the Calgary Stampeders host the Toronto Argonauts at McMahon Stadium.

Marshall takes over a Riders team that has won the West Division the past two years and suffered hard-fought Grey Cup losses to Montreal.

By comparison, Edmonton finished last in the West last season with a 7-11 record and has missed the playoffs three times in five years.

The Riders are again expected to challenge in the West Division. But many football pundits predict a rebuilding season for a young Eskimos squad devoid of many household names outside of such established veterans like quarterback Ricky Ray, receiver Fred Stamps, defensive back Chris Thompson and kicker Damon Duval.

"The expectation across the league is because there is a lot of turnover and changes that we're going to really struggle," Reed said. "I don't think our struggles are going to be any more pronounced than any of the other teams early on."

"Once we get our timing together, once we get the chemistry together, and if we avoid major and extended injuries, we'll be fine."

Few around the CFL were surprised when the Riders hired Marshall. For years, Marshall had been mentioned as a solid head-coaching candidate and had been considered for a number of vacancies.

But Edmonton GM Eric Tillman raised eyebrows when he hired Reed. After playing as a defensive back with the Eskimos, Reed got into coaching in 2001 as the Toronto Argonauts defensive back and special-teams coach, and he also served as an assistant with Ottawa, Hamilton, Saskatchewan and Winnipeg before returning to Alberta. THE CANADIAN PRESS

WHO WILL HOIST THE GREY CUP?

CFL EXTRA POINTS

DAN TOTH
SPORTS@METRONEWS.CA

Throwing away the mortgage money on a potential Grey Cup winner before the season even starts is pure lunacy, especially in the most unpredictable pro sports league on the planet. But we're playing with house money, so let's lay down some odds and project the sure shots, long shots and haven't-got-a-shots for the upcoming 2011 CFL season.

Montreal

The two-time defending Grey Cup champs have made three straight appearances in the title game and there's no reason to believe "Les Larks" are finished picking up CFL jewelry. QB Anthony Calvillo is another year older (38) and is without SB Ben Cahoon (retired) and RB Avon Cobourne (free agency), but the Als are king of the hill until someone knocks them off.

4-1
Calgary

The Stamps have 2010 most outstanding player Henry Burris back at the helm and he's always a threat, despite significant changes along the O-line. Burris has Joffrey Reynolds, the CFL's top RB in the backfield. On defence, the secondary is without CBs Brandon Browner (NFL) and Dwight Anderson (free agency). Stamps have plenty to prove after following up their 2008 Grey Cup win with two West final losses.

5-1
Saskatchewan

Significant changes in 2011, including a rebuilt coaching staff under newcomer Greg Marshall, could affect the Green Giants. The Riders also lost SB Andy Fantuz (NFL), but bolstered Darian Durant's O-line with the addition of Alex Gauthier and George Hudson.

6-1
B.C.

The heat's on head coach Wally Buono to get his Lions into the Grey Cup at B.C. Place Stadium in November. Helping his chances is QB Travis Lulay, who proved late last season that he has the arm and leadership ability to get it done. Lulay will have 2010 most outstanding offensive lineman Ben Archibald, a free agent from Calgary, buying him time in the backfield.

10-1
Hamilton

The Tabbies could be contenders in the East but have struggled in the playoffs. The addition of free agent RB Avon Cobourne could provide the missing ingredient in the post-season.

20-1
Edmonton

Top-to-bottom changes this season will make for a long year for the Green and Gold. Could miss the playoffs.

30-1
Toronto

A solid D got the Argos into the East final last year, but they'll go no farther without a QB.

50-1
Winnipeg

The Blue Bombers were 4-14 last season, but nine of those losses were by four points or less. A healthy Buck Pierce at quarterback could turn the agony of defeat into the joy of victory, but don't bet on it.

► France's Jo-Wilfried Tsonga celebrates during the match against Roger Federer at Wimbledon on Wednesday.

Underdog Tsonga overcomes Federer

- Frenchman rallies to beat six-time champ in five
- Federer blows two-set lead at Grand Slam for first time

Roger Federer was eliminated in the Wimbledon quarter-finals for the second straight year Wednesday, squandering a two-set lead for the first time at a Grand Slam tournament and losing to Jo-Wilfried Tsonga 3-6, 6-7 (3), 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

The six-time Wimbledon champion barely looked challenged while winning the first two sets against the 12th-seeded Frenchman. But Federer, who had been 178-0 in matches in which he had won the opening two sets at a major tournament, was broken one time in each of the last three sets.

"It's kind of hard going out of the tournament that way, but unfortunately it does happen sometimes," said Federer, who played in his 29th straight major quarter-final. "At least it took him sort of a special performance to beat me."

Federer, 16 times a Grand Slam champion, finished the match with only 11 unforced errors, half as many as Tsonga.

"I was two sets down and I break. I did a good game of return and after that it was just amazing," said Tsonga.

In the semifinals Tsonga will face second-seeded Novak Djokovic, who defeated 18-year-old Australian qualifier Bernard Tomic 6-2, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5.

Defending champion

Rafael Nadal also advanced, beating Mardy Fish 6-3, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4. The two-time champion will face fourth-seeded Andy Murray in the semifinals. Murray defeated Feliciano Lopez 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

Nadal did not appear bothered by the left foot injury he sustained in his previous match.

If Djokovic reaches the final at the All England Club for the first time this year, he will guarantee himself the No. 1 ranking. He can also claim the top ranking if Nadal fails to defend his title.

Murray is trying to become the first British man to win the Wimbledon title since Fred Perry in 1936.

Injured, masked Sinclair determined to face France

With a look of resolve, Christine Sinclair strapped on her face mask and jogged onto the pitch Wednesday to practise with her team for the first time since breaking her nose three days earlier.

But while her body language said nothing but sheer determination, her status for Canada's do-or-die game against France at the FIFA Women's World Cup on Thursday in Germany is still unclear.

Canada's captain and leading scorer took a stray elbow to the nose in the team's opening 2-1 loss to Germany but still managed to score on a free kick.

But now the team's World Cup storyline could quickly turn sour with a loss to France, and the question the day before the big game: Will she or won't she play?

"Christine Sinclair is one of the best players in the

Stiff competition

- France is no pushover, boasting 10 players from Olympique Lyon, the mighty French pro team that won the Champions League trophy this season, winning every league game along the way.
- Les Bleus also haven't lost a game in two years, and were ranked higher than Canada until just a few weeks ago.
- Led by crafty midfielder Louisa Necib, who routinely draws comparisons to former French star Zinedine Zidane, France won 11 of its 12 matches.

world. Maybe the best player in the world," said head coach Carolina Morace.

"So for us, the damage is huge."

Canada's team doctor Pietro Braina put the chances of Sinclair playing at 40 per cent, but added that "a lot can change in 24 hours."

Sinclair was out on the field at Ruhrstadionin barely looking the worse for wear, the only tell-tale sign of her injury her grey "Zorro" mask. She ran wind sprints and did leaping header drills, and shot the team doctor a quick "It's OK" when he walked by to check on her.

Braina said the pain will be the determining factor and that the mask must be worn when she plays for the next 40 to 60 days.

An official decision on her playing status won't be announced until 90 minutes before kickoff.

Sixth-ranked Canada must at least tie No. 7 France to move on to the quarter-finals. Sinclair has scored 117 goals — almost twice more than the rest of her teammates combined.

Today's horoscope

♈ Aries March 21-April 20

To be happy, you need to do things that make a difference not just in your life, but in the lives of others.

♉ Taurus April 21-May 21 What happens over the next few days has the potential to make your life infinitely more interesting.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21 You've found it difficult of late to express yourself. This weekend, you'll make up for it big time.

♋ Cancer June 22-July 22 If there is something you need to say, don't wait any longer. Say it now.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 23

You seem to be spending a lot of time thinking about your future, and that's a good thing. Stay focused on it.

♍ Virgo Aug. 24-Sept. 22 The worst that can happen today is that a gamble doesn't pay off.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23 Say the right things to employers and others in positions of power. A few days from now, they may not be in quite such a receptive mood.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22 Your ability to get on with everyone will pay huge financial rewards.
